TRANSFORCE'S V.P. OF SAFETY AND COMPLIANCE EARNS CTP DESIGNATION

Robert S. Abbott, TransForce's Vice-President of Safety and Compliance, was awarded the prestigious designation of Certified Transportation Professional (CTP) by the National Private Truck Council's Institute, the educational and professional certification division of the National Private Truck Council (NPTC). Abbott and the other graduates of this year's CTP class were honored during a ceremony at the NPTC's Annual Conference on April 27th, 2008 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Certified Transportation Professionals have demonstrated the knowledge and ability to understand complex operational and regulatory issues, identify and evaluate potential costs and savings, and develop systems and practices that best meet their company's transportation needs and objectives," said Gary Petty, NPTC President and CEO. "The CTP designation is a benchmark of excellence earned by a special few."

Candidates who complete the educational program and sit for the certification exam must demonstrate competency in fleet management, specifically with respect to issues that impact human resources, safety, operations, finance and fleet maintenance functions.

"Naturally, we are very proud of Rob's accomplishment," said David Broome, TransForce's President and CEO. "This designation is only conferred upon those who demonstrate the ability to understand complex fleet management issues. His achievement confirms our long standing commitment to maintaining a top-notch management team."

In addition to serving as TransForce's Vice-President of Safety and Compliance, Abbott is the Managing Director of TransForce Services Group, the transportation consulting and services division of TransForce.
