Think Safety Around The Clock

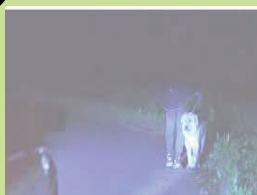

The National Safety Council (NSC) recognizes June as National Safety Month. TransForce drivers are urged to always keep safety as priority at work, at home or play, night and day.

If you think about safety around the clock and drive defensively, you will be better prepared to avoid all of the hazards that are inherent in driving for a living.

Always wear your seat belt whether you are driving around the block or across the country. Use the proper tools at work to avoid injury. Beware of wildlife that may cross in front of your vehicle. Pedestrians and bikers are harder to spot so use extra caution at crosswalks and near bike lanes.

Night time diminishes how far ahead you can see and brings a new set of hazards. Reduce your speed at night and expect to encounter broken down vehicles, emergency vehicles, night time construction, or pedestrians who may not be wearing reflective clothing.

In June and every month, think safety 24/7/365 to protect yourself and others from accident or injury.
